GOOD WORK OF OFFICER TRACY

Through His Efforts the New Aala Sewer Was Installed.

City Sanitary Officer Tracy of the Health Department has shown his capabilities in many ways since he joined the staff of the Board, his principal work being to reduce the causes of insanitariness in several of the districts which are generally accredited with being the most unhealthy in the city. These are Kakaako, Kewalo and portions of Palama.

During the month of June, according to his report submitted yesterday to the Board of Health, he has accomplished a fine piece of work in connection with the drainage of stagnant ponds near Aala Lane, culminating in the laying of a sewer line down that thoroughfare, at the least expense to all concerned. Acting as the medium between the property owners, sewer contractors and the government he has succeeded not only in laying the mains but in filling up several of what he considered the worst cesspools in Honolulu. His report is as follows:

For some time off and on since the government appropriation for sewer construction was exhausted I have been working to get a sewer laid from King street to Beretania street in Kamahele road, better known as Aala Lane.
By interviewing the adjacent property owners I got them to sign two agreements or contracts. The first with Vincent & Belser, the sewer contractors, in which each property owner agreed to pay a certain stated amount proportioned to his frontage for the construction of the sewer and laterals, and any additional sum which was necessary to bring the total to the government contract price for that particular piece of sewer, as for instance, in case of striking rock or such unforeseen difficulties, was to be paid pro rata.

The second agreement was with the Public Works Department, stating the agreement with Vincent & Belser and agreeing to have the sewer built under supervision and control of the Public Works and to pay the regular government rates when connecting. The Government furnishes the pipe, brick for manholes, and iron manholes covers free and this reduces the cost considerably.

The Aala sewer is now laid and in good working order and seven of the worst cesspools in the city are being filled.

At odd times I am working on a piece of sewer for Vineyard street from the Relief Camp No. 2 to Liliha street, but owing to the Kewalo matter have not accomplished much lately. Sewers are badly needed on King street from Lili-ha street to Dowsett Lane; on Emma street; on College Walk from Vineyard street to King street; on River street from Beretania to Kukul, along Kukul to Fort street, with sewers one block in either direction on Nuuanu street and on Fort street, thus draining the whole of that portion of town.

An extremely offensive ditch which I wish the Board would visit and condemn is at Iwilei parallel to and just Waikiki of the Government Washhouses. Formerly this ditch was necessary, but now it is not, and the people in the vicinity dump garbage, etc., into it which the tide does not carry away with the result that the ditch is a serious menace to public health.

GOING BACK TO THE MAINLAND

Dr. Everman Carried Aboard the Peru on a Stretcher Yesterday.

Dr. B. W. Everman, chief ichthyologist of the United States Fish Commission, was carried aboard the steamer Peru yesterday on a stretcher. Within a week after his arrival in the islands Dr.
Everman, who came as the expert in his line with the party which is headed by Dr. David Starr Jordan, was stricken with a serious attack of dysentery. His physicians struggled with the ailment but finally advised that he leave the island with the hope that in a cooler climate he would find relief. Dr. Everman was accompanied by one of the volunteer members of the party, Mr.
Nicholls of New York, and is attended by a trained nurse. In addition to this he will have the closest attention from W. A. Rodenburg, of the Civil Service commission and Chief Examiner Serven of that body, who are old friends and who were among the passengers on the Peru.

Upon his arrival at San Francisco Dr.
Everman will be taken to the home of Dr. Jordan at Palo Alto. The house has been placed at his disposal and he will be joined there by friends from Washington, who will endeavor to nurse him back to health in the ideal climate of Palo Alto. Dr. Jordan will leave for his home in the Mariposa which will sail July 16th. His departure will not hinder the work of the party as his place at the head of it will be taken by Prof. Jenkins, who holds the chair of physiology at Stanford. Dr. Jenkins was here in 1889 and then made one of the largest collections of fishes ever made from these waters.

Among the other passengers who left in the Peru were Mr. MacLennan, of the U. S. Treasury department, his son who was connected with the First National Bank and his daughter, who was laden with leis. The Federal officials were out in force to bid farewell to the departing civil service commissioner and the examiner, while the many friends of former surveyor of port Stratmeyer were represented. John T. McCrossen, the engineer, was one of the outgoing passengers, being on the way to San Francisco on a flying trip, his plans being to get back in the same ship if possible. M. F.
Prosser of Kauai, who will make a months' visit in the East, was liberally decked with flowers.

The departure of the Rev. Mr. Kincaid for his vacation in San Francisco drew to the dock many of his parishioners and he was given a most tender and touching aloha.

One of the pleasing incidents was the farewell given Miss Kinney, one of the teachers at Kamehameha Schools, who goes to the Coast for her vacation. A large number of the girls from the school visited the ship and covered their teacher with flowers and then gathered on the dock and sang several songs, many of them shedding tears over Aloha Oe. The quarantine regulations of Dr. Cofer, by which the effects of the second class passengers were first fumigated were put in force and eighty-six pieces were put through the formalin process. In addition to this the first-class passengers were lined up in the saloon and inspected.
